

1. New identified apps to be aware of:

1. Avakin Life – A simulation and role playing game which has chat features.
2. Gacha Life – A virtual game that enables you to create your own Anime style character. Online reviews and videos on YouTube have shown characters wearing very little clothing and being placed in sexual positions. It also has chat features.
3. Highlife – A game set in a virtual world that allows users to communicate through cartoon avatars that they've created. Users can chat to each other within these rooms in private or publicly and also post statuses and images on the newsfeed in a similar way to Facebook and Instagram.
4. Kids Chat - Online chat rooms offering users the opportunity to chat in various different rooms. Described as the world's largest chat for kids.
5. Smule - Smule is an American mobile app developer headquartered in San Francisco. The company specializes in developing social music-making and collaboration applications for iOS, Android, and Web. The app enables you to communicate and sing duets with people from across the world.
6. Vent - Vent is described as a social diary, an app that provides a place for you to express how you REALLY feel. Vent helps you connect to a fun, uplifting, positive, and understanding community, making it easy to share your feelings with people around the world and lift your mood! Vulnerable users who have feelings of isolation and loneliness can easily use it and be exploited by potential groomers and abusers who are pretending to care about them.
